Georgetown Proves Woefully Weak Against Old Riv

SPECIATORS MASSED AROUND BIG FOOTBALL GAME ON GEORGETOWN FIELD

VIRGINIA OUTPLAYS GEORGETOWN ELEVEN AND WINS BY 28 TO 6

Incessant Attacks on Blue and Gray Line Yield Four Touchdowns and Field Goal-Stewart Scores From Kick Off.

By THOMAS S. RICE.

VIRGINIA, 28; GEORGETOWN, 6.

Outplayed at every angle, outgeneraled and outlasted physically, Georgetown lost to the University of Virginia in football on Georgetown Field yesterday by 28 to 6.

It was, with one exception, the worst defeat the Washington school ever suf-fered at the hands of its Charlottesville rival. The exception was in 1893, when Virginia beat Georgetown 58 to 0, but in that same year Georgetown beat Georgetown 12 to 0.

Georgetown has no excuse, in the minds of those who saw the game yesterday. The men were individually as game as pebbles, and did their best, even when they were making but sorry exhibition of themselves. It was simply a case where one team had everything and the other had nerve only, which is Crawford Outkicks Thompson. not enough to win in such a scientific form of competition as football.

In saying Virginia had everything. it is not meant that it is a wonderful

Big Crowd, Pretty Girls.

The intense interest in the struggle was shown by the attendance of about 5,000. The lowest price tickets were $1, and there were no complimentaries, except a very limited number to the news-proposition in these days of new foot- the reports Georgetown knew old foot- who was downed without gaining. ball and "hopped" horses, but I am ball, if nothing else, Georgetown really The Blue and Gray failed to gain on pretty girls of all styles. But if I were Right Sort of Cheering.

Rooting of the inspiring, maddening Stewart's Splendid Run. nearly squeezed out of wind.

Not a minute was lost by cheerers or bands. There was one incessant roar of thicker upon Georgetown, her rooters posts. came back with songs more defiant, taunts more stinging, and boasts that the throwing of a man for a loss.

Played 1905 Football.

But, to the game. It was 1905 football, the kind in which Georgetown was supposed to excel, but Headwork was sadly absent in the en-When she saw late in the second chance that she had no earthly chance to win by ordinary methods, it is hard to understand why she did not resort to every trick, fake, and combination in her repertoire. Failure would have cost little and success might have stopped the monotonous march of Virginia to the roal line. Graduates and volunteer left tackle, next a little fiyer in center

Virginia thereby got the ball on downs, and in three plunges through left tackle Neff carried it over for Virginia's first the score was 6 to 0, which it remained at the end of the half.

But the real reason for Virginia's large score was to be found in the superiority of Crawford over Thompson in punting, and the far greater ability of the Virginia ends in getting down on Virginia 28 to 24. In 1906 Virginia beat booted the ball into Virginia territory, it was soon back near the Blue and Gray goal, for Georgetown, unable to advance, except in rare instances, was forced to kick, and when Virginia was also driven to punt, a review of the exchange would show Virginia was ten to twenty yards the better off

Crawford's kicks were all high and Simon or Stewart would not get started before being thrown. Thompson's kicks were too low and Honaker or Neff, backfootball team, for the Charlottesville field, would run them back many valueleven was far from breaking any able yards before the belated or delayed records. But it was better than GeorgeGeorgetown ends would arrive. That town, ways shifted the scene of operations to; her rival's bailiwick.

not a success. The individual fighting Stewart's. sending of a crew to Poughkeepsie next weakness in kicking and getting down two other attempts.

to start on this faere would be no end.

the end plays, but changed her entire ten yards. Another exchange of punts gave Georgetown the ball on the center

Virginia had about 700 football feats ever pulled off in Washhenchmen on hand, with the Stonewall ington. Stewart, Georgetown's quarter-on a tackle play, and Dutcher succeeded Band, a pickaninny color bearer, and a back, took Crawford's kick-off in the in barely making it first down. pig mascot to help urge the Charlottes-villians to down their hereditary ene-line. He is a speedy youngster, and McNulty Gets Six. mies. On the opposite side of the field won his spurs by making Georgetown's A line plunge by McNulty gained six plunges and off-tackles formations the Georgetown adherents were banked only touchdown against North Carolina yards, but Simon ran back on the next placed the ball on the loser's 5-yard line. so thickly that their trusty band was the Saturday before. Dodging in and play and Stewart called for an on-side Neff Again Scores. out, and assisted by the entire George- kick which gave Virginia the ball thirty town team, he brought the ball to the yards nearer the latter's own goal. Here center of the field. There he eluded Honaker called his left guard over to songs, broken by college yells, Neff, Crawford, and Honaker in a bunch, the right side of the line, and behind a plerced by intermittent roars of ap- got a clear right of way, and ran the beautiful interference succeeded in kept at it. As the pall fell thicker and touching the ball down between the goal the exception of Simon who dove head-sane asylum on fire, you will have some made a 30-yard gain. were louder. The successful tackle idea of the noise the Blue and Gray after a big Virginia gain was greeted rooters made in welcoming this sprightly and forth, changing hands rapidly. with as much enthusiastic discord as sight. Simon kicked goal, and there the throwing of a man for a loss.

Simon kicked goal, and there the story of why Georgetown Virginia back into the latter's territory was not blanked.

Virginia Strengthens Line.

different proposition then. Georgetown ing for line plunges and off-tackle n which her defense proved lamentably is hard to keep down when losing, as plays, despite the fact that he had failed weak and her offense not much better. Virginia found in 1901, when, after be- to make the distance on former at-Neither side placed any reliance in the forward pass. Virginia used it three fewers principally because she realized half and won the game, 17 to 16. With 50-yard line in the latter's possession. the was a sure winner, and neither with georgetown on even terms and heart-patisfactory results. Georgetown used ened by such a remarkable bit of work. it once, then in sheer desperation and it was necessary for the Old Dominion without profit. was equal to the problem. If he couldn' are conduct of the Georgetown offense. run circles around the Georgetown defense, he would pound it to pieces by assaulting its weakest point, the unduly large open space left between tackle and end by the Georgetown system of playing the ends out too far.

It was the beginning of the end. From that time the Virginia backs followed the practice of making two or three charges just outside the Blue and Gray

Particularly Noticeable Feats.

Stewart, Georgetown's quarterback, received the ball on the kick-off at the opening of the second half and ran eighty-seven yards for a touchdown.

Honaker, Virginia's quarterback, on a quarterback run in the second half, covered eighty-three yards for a touchdown. Neff, Virginia's left half, carried the ball over for the first touchdown from the Georgetown ten-yard line in three successive charges between left tackle and left end. After failing in two other trials, Crawford kicked a field goal for Virginia, from the twenty-two-yard line. Virginia used the forward pass three times, twice incurring a penalty of fifteen yards, and the third time not gaining,

Georgetown used the forward pass once, and that without Both used the on-side kick but without great success. Georgetown proved lamentably weak in resisting line attacks, and showed poor headwork throughout. Virginia was surprised to find she could not gain consistently Virginia's superior punting and the work of her ends were principal sources of her success.

One of the features was the surprising form shown by Devine, the George-town track captain, when he took Miller's place at right end in the second haif. He has been ill, and practiced only two days. For first half a dozen downs he was so fast that Virginia was amazed. On kicks he got to the re-caiver ten yards ahead of the other Georgetown men and completely broke up the free and easy running back, but he soon tired and things settled to their old level. While he lasted Devine was by far the brightest star in the Georgetown firmament, but he was oon worn out by his exertions in running and in hurling himself into the Virginia line plays.

Battered into dufiness by the Virginia backs. Georgetown fell a prey to a dewas the real answer to the rapidity with layed pass and quarterback run by yard line. Which Virginia in the second half albrilliant youth extricated himself from the bunch and ran eighty-three yards In the first half Virginia tried her for a touchdown, certainly a notable hand at end runs and found they were performance, but scarcely as good as papers, hence the financial returns must instinct of the Georgetown ends and Crawford proved a place kicker as well have been large enough to come pretty backs smashed the interference and as a punter, getting a goal from the near giving Georgetown funds for the pulled down the runner. Georgetown's field from the 22-yard line, after missing summer. Never before did the game attract such a large number of persons prominent in political and social life, and never were there so many automo-biles and other gay turnouts, to say striking distance and was able to gain Crawford was sent over right tackle for nothing of a coaching party of Virginia ten yards and a touchdown in three three yards, and on a trial through rooters.

| Charges by Neff, off-tackle, then she | Georgetown's left guard lost two Craw-Picking a winner is a most uncertain awoke to the great fact that, despite ford then punted forty yards to Simon, willing to lay a little bet that no crowd had a very poor defense against line two off-tackle plays, and Simon kicked of the same size ever had so many plays. Virginia continued to experiment with under way in great style, and tore off line. Miller was called over to the left side of the line for interference, and sort was one of the big side shows to This scoring was one of the greatest McNulty slipped around left end for five yards. Thompson added three more

There he eluded Honaker called his left guard over to remaining distance to the Virginia line, cluding the entire Georgetown team with long into the approaching men and If you have ever been around an in- downed the Southern quarter after he until it rested on the visitors' 40-yard line. Crawford attempted a short kick, but Alger blocked it, and was on the Virginia realized it was up against a ball instantly. Stewart insisted on call-winners had better luck on the next rushing the ball within fifteen yards of touchdown, where the Blue and Gray held nobly, and Thompson booted to safety on the 55-yard line. Two tries at the line failed to gain, and Crawford punted. He struck the ball squarely, and it sailed to Georgetown's 6-yard Waples did their share, but the big Waple, for the first time in the thirty burden was on Neff, and a more con-sistent line plunger is not often seen. minutes of play, was then called on, and added seven before his opponents crushed him to earth. With but four yards to go, and but one down to make it in, Honaker selected Neff to turn the tard, and for about half the game play- yards outside of center. trick. The latter was not found want- ed V. P. I. to a standstill. The Wash- Penn's victory was desipulling and struggling to get him over. the fast halfback fought his way across the final white mark. Crawford punted posts, and a moment later sent the in a score, oval sailing between the uprights for Tech's Work Snappy. the first extra one point. Score: Virginia, 6; Georgetown, 0.

the ball was kept in the midle of the field. The losers had a little the better of the argument and were tearing off four yards at a clip when the whittle stopped their advance on Virginia's 40-

The second half opened with Crawford's kick to Stewart, and the latter's sensational run through the entire Virginia team, a distance of eighty-seven yards, for Georgetown's only score. After clearing the mass of players who surged about him as he tore down the field, the slight Blue and Gray quarter was followed closely by three Virginlans, Honaker, Neff, and Crawford. The three were gaining rapidly, but just as Honaker dived, Neff fell against him and put him out of commissio Neff recovered himself only to stagger ahead for several yards and fall. In doing so he hit his own man. Crawford. of punting out, Simon kicked the goal from a difficult angle, leaving the score Georgetown, 6; Virginia, 6.

Georgetown kicked to Virginia and after futile attempts on the part of both teams a punting duel was indulged in of the visitors. Georgetown held on in the packeted, but plucking the remainder of the half.

its own 14-yard line and kicked. Neff the remainder of the half.

Witten, on account of his strained fumbled and Gallagher, Pennsylvania's shoulder, was unable to get off his punts left guard, recovered it and scored.

For one down Georgetown's line held, but Neff got two yards through left guard. Crawford was then sent against the right side of the line, but there was nothing doing. Neff was given the ball and with the entire Virginia team at his back, was shoved over for the Orange and Blue's second touchdown. Crawford kicked an easy goal. Score: Virginia, 12: Georgetown, 6.

Georgetown received the kick and though Coach Reilly tried to bolster his team with fresh men, they were unable to stop the visitors. At one point the Old Dominions rushed the leather within twenty yards of another score, but, being held for downs, Crawford attempted a field goal and failed. Again Virginia got as far as Georgetown's 30-yard mark, but being unable to go farther Crawford again attempted a dropkick and failed.

Crawford Makes Field Goal.

town's left tackle, Dutcher broke through his opponents' line, and threw on its rival's 22-yard line. point Crawford was called back for the third time to try for a field goal. This series of onslaughts, and succeeded in time he was successful, and the score was brought up to, Virginia, 16; Georgetown, 6.

Simon kicked poorly to Waples, who returned the ball ten yards. Georgetown held for downs, but Thomp son was weakening and could scarcely get his punts off, Hume, in Crawford's

ALTHOUGH CRIPPLED: BESTED BY V. P. I.

Polys Run Up 34 Points on George Washington.

G. W. U., o; V. P. I., 34.

BLACKSBURG, Va., Nov. 16 .- George Washington University, with its crippled PENN, 6; MICHIGAN, o. eam, was no match for the strong eleven of the Virginia Polytechnic In-tive merits of the two teams as they ning by 6 to 0. lined up today. Despite its crippled The Red ar trick. The latter was not found want- ed V. P. I. to a standstill. The Wash- ing, and with half the Virginia team ingtonians seemed unable to stand the tacks were effective throughout the three downs, would allow their antag- Greene making long gains around the lenback kicked to Magoffin on Michionists to pull off a fake or a long end Wolverine ends and through the line. gan's 13-yard line. Magoffin did not run

During the remainder of the half, after game throughout, outwelghing the Buff and squirming through four or the simon had kicked off a second time, and Blue, and taking advantage of every opportunity. The punting of Hodgson, the old Georgetown player, was a big feature in the result, as was also Cooper's drop kicking.

George Washington's line held well the runner. For George Washington, Whitehead, Sommers, and Baker played whitehead, Sommers, and Baker played well, while Diffendol and Cooper excelled for V. P. I. The weather conditions were ideal, but the field was muddy and prevented very fast work on the part of the backs. Hodgson made a beautiful kick for placement in the first possession on V. P. L's 25-yard line. The game was marred by continual wrangling with the officials and disputes over the rules.

G. W. U. Hadn't a Chance.

Pierce, who, on account of Galt's inability to accompany the team on the which ended with the ball well in trip, played quarterback, was injured Georgetown's territory, in the possession early in the first half by a hard tackle The Details. of the visitors. Georgetown held on in the back-field, but pluckily stuck out In the first half Pennsylvania scored

V. P. I. gained on every exchange, Billups, for the Techs, played a strong game at right half, proving a difficult man for the buff and blue tacklers to

The Tech's second team, which played he latter part of second half, could gain field. Pennsylvania, 6; Michigan, 6. but little against the tired visitors, who Second Half. continued to fight hard despite the size of the score against them.

The opinion was expressed by V. P. I.

players after the game that Georgetown and George Washington were nearly evenly matched, taking into consideration the crippled condition of the latter team and the longer halves. Line up:

	Geo. Wash. Positions. V. P. I.
	Gunning, WhiteL. E
	Whiteh'd, Cond'nL. TDiffendo
	AlstonL. GBreckenridg
	BakerJohnso
	HolmesR. GHodgso
ij	Sommers R. T Smit
L.	BrooksR. EJone
	Hough, Hooter L. H. B Luttre
	TullasR. H. BBillup
	Witten, Kemeys F. B V. Hodgso
	Pierce, Gunning Q. B Coope
	-
	ACREDIANI A FARREDA

CUMPANY G FURMS BASKETBALL TEAM

A basketball team has been organized by Company G, First Regiment, N. G.

poaches on the side lines tore their hair with despair when they saw the Blue and Gray plodding along in the sime old sut, refusing to take a chance.

Seorgetown's Poor Headwork.

Another glaring instance of atrophide gerebellum of the part of the Georgetown would be compelled to do likewise, and Virginia ascored. With the ball the rown team was in the first half, just before Virginia ascored. With the ball the complex of the work is and before Virginia ascored. With the ball the complex of the first half, just and part of the Georgetown and an eyard long and ne yard long than the rown 12-yard line, third down and an eyard long and, ready for another series of plances. The fair guest the first and part in the strip of the fair and Devine.

Neff was the star, in this style of sampler one of sinking the necessary of the manney of the fore Virginia scored. With the ball three times in succession against the ball three times in succession against the ball three times in succession against the fore virginia ascored with the ball three times in succession against the fairney of the fore virginia ascored with the ball three times in succession against the ball three times in succession against the fore virginia ascored in the first half, just before Virginia ascored. With the with the virginia ascored with the ball three times in succession against the first was not single the called on a transfer of players includes the following and pass and Pauxtes caught it, W. A. C. H. Windsor, N. M. Cooper, and M. M. With the V. M. C. A. Windsor, with the carroll institute, R. Parad line. Penn tried to provide the first was fore virginia ascored. With the W. M. C. A. Windsor, with the carroll institute, R. Parad line. Penn tried the first was not simple the called on a transfer of players includes the following and pass and Pauxtes caught it, V. A. C. A. Windsor, with the Carroll institute, R. Parad line. Penn tried the first was not simple the cannot an out of little the ball to Virginia's sort. W. C. Herbert, team captain. The

HATCHETITES GAME, PENN SHATTERS MICHIGAN'S MUCH BOASTED DEFENSE

Easterners' Offense Effective-Gains Made by Varied Methods of Attack-Magoffin's Run to Goal Not Allowed.

FERRY FIELD, ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 16.-Pennsylvania broke down stitute today, and went down to defeat Michigan's much-boasted defense today, by a score of 34 to 0.

Michigan's much-boasted defense today, and in a game filled with sensational and in a game filled with sensational The score scarcely indicates the rela- plays, scored a single touchdown, win-

The Red and Blue goal line was condition and the fact that Gunning, crossed by Captain Magoffin, of the who never before played quarterback, Wolverines, after a forty-yard run, fol- Penn goal line, but the officials did not was forced to take that position in the lowing a triple forward pass. The play second half owing to injuries to Pierce, was not allowed, however, the officials the line. The ball was brought back. the regular man, the Hatcheutes fought holding that the ball did not go five and given to Pean on Michigan's 40-continual strain, and after holding for game, Captain Follwell, Hollenback, and out to Honaker directly in front of the run, which would eventually terminate The Easterners won on an on-side kick it back a yard. Magoffin went through posts, and a moment later sent the in a score. formation for drop kick. Keinath booted The V. P. I. team played a slashing the pigskin for ten yards to Gallagher. The giant guard grabbed the leather Michigan's tackles, planted the oval be-hind the goal posts, At other times Pennsylvania's gains were made on oldfashioned football.

Early in the second half Michigan ungeorge Washington's line held well corked a variety of trick mays using mader trying circumstances, but the the forward pass in freak formations, ends seemed unable to solve most of Three times long gains were made on the corked a variety of trick may use the corked as their plays. Each time, however, the ly netter big gains.

V. P. L's interference ran fast and hard, and the Washington ends, though generally breaking it up, could not get the runner. For George Washington.

their plays. Each time, however, the Yost pupils fell short when within striking distance of the goal. Rheinschild and Hammond were the bright stars for the Wolverines. The big Californian was everywhere, tackling behind beautiful kick for placement in the first score, was the Pennsylvania goal line half, in which V. P. L scored 24 points. in danger. The Quakers, on the other hand, were several times within strik-ing distance of the Michigan goal line, loing so he hit his own man, Crawford, hus leaving Stewart free to save George Washington was at no time but the stonewall defense that Tost and built up prevented scoring. Once Pennsylvania, on a forward pass, slipped behind the line, but holding in the line brought the ball back on a penalty.

Pennsylvania made long gains in unning back punts, the Easterners' back field showing exceptional brilliancy in cluding Michigan tacklers.

Scarlett kicked goal. Allerdice kicked off for Michigan to Pennsylvania's 20yard line. Hollenbeck ran it back fifteen yards, and Pennsylvania was penalized fifteen yards on the first line-up. Hol-lenback kicked to Michigan's 45-yard line. Two tries gave Michigan nothing and Hammond punted to center of Allerdice kicked off for Michigan, The ball went out of bounds at Pennsylvania's 25-yard line. Greene ran around Michigan's right end for twenty yards. Hollenback failed to gair, through the ine and punted to Michigan's 35-yard line. Wasmund made the catch and returned it ten yards. Pamsylvania was off-side, and the ball was brought to center of field.

It was Penn's ball Hollenback punted to Wasmund at Michigan's 15yard line. Michigan gained 30 yards in a forward pass. Michigan made ten more on a forward pass. Magoffin made both passes, Romney recovering the ball each time. Watkins made three yards through center. Hammond punted to Penn's 50-yard line, Gallagher fumbled it and it was Michigan's ball. Watkins went four yards through center. Dwyer, Penn's center.

ook time out. Michigan was penalized fifteen yards on a forward pass and the ball was Penn's on her 50-yard line. Penn made first down twice through Michigan's line and the maize and blue were penalized five yards, Graham being off-side. Hollenback carried the ball to Michigan's 35-yard line on a run around left end. Pennsylvania got over the goal line on a forward pass but the lost the ball. It was Michigan's ball on her 25-yard line. Hammond made seventeen yards around Penn's right end. Hammond fumbled the next pass, Folwell recovering the ball for Pann.

a loss of three yards. Hollenback went around Romney to the 45-yard line.

Pennsylvania tried the line and failed and Hollenback punted to Michigan on her 30-yard line. Allerdice and Watkins failed to gain for Michigan, and later on a double pass, Wasmund to Magoffin, Michigan gained thirty yards. This same play was tried on the next line-up. Hamm yard line. Lowell went in for Watkins

Embys broke through and tackled Holthree through Dyer and had to punt. It was Penn's ball in the center of the field. Folwell made seven yards around

The ball did not approach dangerously near either goal for the pest of the

The Rhode Island Methodist eleven added another victory yesterday by defeating the Alexandria Athletic Club on the latter's grounds by 40 to 0.

The game was a walkover for the local team, four touchdowns being made in each of the fifteen-minute halves. The and could do nothing with the well-directed plays of the visiting team. The work of the Rhode Island backfield was

1	Line-up.
0	Alexandria. Position. R. I. M. Chilcott
4	LamberthL. TSturges
1	Clark G. Morris, Callahar
e 1	CookC Fulls
1	HeydenR. GVandergrif HallR. TJoyn
1	Stanton R. E Carnat
d	GrimQ. BBoernstie
	CockrellL. H. BPries
٠.	McBrideR. H. BLeMa
1	HalePalme
s I	The state of the s

Touchdowns-Priest, 2; LeMat, 2; Pal-mer, 2; Boernstien, 2. Referce-Henry, Umpire-Hodson. Time of halves-15

WASHINGTON Y. M. C. A. DEFEATS BALTIMORE

The basketball quint of the local Y. M. C. A. strengthened its hold in the race for the championship of the Tri-City Basketball League by taking the Central Y. M. C. A. team of Baltim into camp by 20 to 15.

The game was replete with excellent team work and superb individual effort on the part of the local team. It looks as if Prof. Beckett has gathered together a galaxy of stars to win honors for him as the team has not lost a league game this season. The losers, too, put up an excellent game, the result being in doubt at several stages of the game. Williams, the doughty little captain of the locals, was in the game at all times. Not only did he show up exceptionally well in the old style of play that was prevalent in the game, but he also copped every free throw that was given to him. He had four to his credit. Smith and Jones worked together in a remarkable manner, each man having three field goals chalked to his credit.

For the visitors, Krieger was the individual star, cornering three difficult goals. But he also had four fouls against him. The playing was rather rough on a whole, as the visitors insisted on playing without the side line ruies. This was done because they have no side lines in Baltimore and were unaccustomed to playing with them. league game this season. The losers,

Michigan's line held and Hollenback punted to Magoffin on Michigan's 18-yard lineHammond ran eight yards around Pauxtes. Pauxtes took time out. Hammond punted to the middle of the field and Embys tackled Hollenback for